

ABC NAMES CAJUN INDUSTRIES 2012 CONTRACTOR OF THE YEAR

Cajun Industries was named national contractor of the year by Associated Builders and Contractors (ABC), one of the largest American trade groups. The award, which recognizes overall excellence and commitment to safety, was presented in February at the ABC Excellence in Construction Event in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

“Each year ABC recognizes an individual or company that attains a level of achievement that raises the bar for all of us, and Cajun Industries certainly fits the bill,” says Greg Hoberock, ABC National Chairman and President of Union, Missouri HTH Companies Inc. “Cajun’s commitment to safety and excellence on all levels helps to advance our organization, the construction industry and the principles of free enterprise.”

As an active member of three ABC chapters (Pelican, New Orleans/Bayou and Greater Houston), Cajun has been a strong supporter of the association’s Political Action Committee and Free Enterprise Alliance. Cajun Industries also has also won more than 70 ABC Excellence in Construction awards during the past two decades and has achieved Diamond status

(the highest level possible) in ABC’s Safety and Training Evaluation Process. This award also gives recognition for Cajun’s longstanding dedication to the merit shop philosophy.

Thank you to all Cajun employees who have made this honor achievable. Without your dedication to safety and customer satisfaction, Cajun would not be where it is today.

A CHEVRON PASCAGOULA SMALL CAPS STAPLE

In the first quarter of 2013, Cajun Constructors completed the Substation #42 Replacement Project and the 62 Plant E-6210B Exchanger Turnaround at Chevron Pascagoula Refinery. These 2 projects for the refinery Small Caps and IMPACT construction groups were unique to both Chevron and Cajun in regard to constructability and planning.

In January of 2013, Cajun completed the Substation #42 Replacement Project under the watchful eye of Dashiell Engineers and Constructors and the Chevron Small Caps construction group. Cajun Constructors' scope along with Cajun Deep Foundations included the installation of limited access auger cast piles and helical piles, new substation foundations, and ductbanks. This project was unique to all involved in both the design and execution phases. Due to equipment access issues, helical piles were used to replace auger cast piles for a cable tray rack in a canal. This brought forth a collective effort from Cajun Deep Foundations, Dashiell Engineering, and Chevron Engineering to design and successfully install the helical piles to meet the project's design criteria. This was the first time that helical piles had been installed within the Chevron Pascagoula Refinery. This project was also distinctive due to the piles, foundations, and ductbanks being installed around an existing electrical substation while still in service. This particular substation powered both miscellaneous equipment and a major cooling tower. Power was not interrupted to any of the equipment or cooling tower during any point of the construction. The Substation #42 Replacement Project team consisted of Charlie Granata, Site Manger; William Latham, Site Manager; Darryn Compton, Superintendent; Brian Bowser, Safety; Tom Lehmann, Cajun Deep Foundations Site Manager; and Chris Normand, Cajun Deep Foundations Project Manager.

In February, 2013, Cajun Constructors continued their success with the Chevron Pascagoula IMPACT Group with the completion of the 62 Plant E-6210B Exchanger Turnaround. This turnaround was another unique opportunity for both Cajun and Chevron due to the installation of piles during the turnaround critical path window. Cajun's scope included the demo and removal of the existing exchanger foundation, removal of surrounding concrete paving, installation of four 12" diameter x 130' deep pipe piles, installation of new exchanger foundations, and installation of new concrete paving. Cajun crews, in conjunction with Jordan Pile Driving, worked around the clock to complete the project both incident and injury free and earlier than scheduled. Due to piles being driven in a live unit, vibrations to surrounding equipment was a concern. Due to these concerns, 16" diameter x 20' deep pile casings were installed and drilled out prior to driving the 12" piles. This method allowed pile driving vibrations to be transferred 20' below grade rather than to vibration sensitive equipment above grade. Cajun also utilized the use of a high early curing concrete mix design that reached 4000 PSI within 24 hours of placement. The use of this concrete allowed for a seamless transition for other contractors to begin work on the newly placed foundations with minimal down time, which is critical to the turnaround schedule. Cajun's

62 Plant Turnaround team consisted of William Latham, Site Manager; Darryn Compton, Night Shift Superintendent; Brian Bowser, Safety; John Havens, Day Shift Foreman; and Johnny Keith, General Foreman.

Due to Cajun's world class approach to constructability and safety, Cajun has been awarded two new projects for the Chevron Pascagoula Small Caps and IMPACT construction groups. Cajun started the 95 Plant Turnaround in April, followed by the Substation #22 Replacement Project in May.

HAZARD RECOGNITION / NEAR MISS AWARD PROGRAM

FIRST PLACE WINNER

Christopher Morris

*Cajun Constructors, Inc.
Public Works Division
First Place = $300*

Employee was walking to work area when he heard a hissing sound near an oxygen/gas cutting rig that belonged to another contractor. It was discovered that the torch head was leaking gas into a pipe. The employee notified his foreman and safety supervisor who then contacted the contractor. The contractor then corrected the situation.

SECOND PLACE WINNERS

Armando Flores

*Cajun Constructors, Inc.
Public Works Division
Second Place = $200*

The employee arrived at the worksite and noticed that a 3'x5' piece of sheet metal had fallen from the Coker conveyor belt into the excavation work area. After further inspection there were 4 to 5 pieces that were loose and ready to fall into the work area. The employee reported this to his supervisor who then reported this to the client. The area was barricaded and the job shut down so the loose pieces could be removed and it was safe to work.

Armando Flores, Rico Landry

Ron Renner

*Cajun Constructors, Inc.
Public Works Division
Second Place = $200*

The employee identified another contractor that was not tied off inside a barricaded area. The space was an 18' deep sump. The contractor was asked to tie off while inside the barricade area.

ZIP SURVEY

Cajun conducted a survey "Zero Injury Philosophy" (ZIP) of all Cajun employees in December of 2012.

This perception survey is one of a number of tools that can be used to measure the effectiveness of a safety program. It takes a representative sampling of the general work force and analyzes the general beliefs about the effectiveness of various program elements.

With 719 responses, Cajun would again like to thank all Cajun employees who participated in the ZIP survey.

Paul Higdon | Corporate Safety Coordinator

BLENDING IN WITH THE CROWD

Working Together to Support our Employees and Our Clients...

As we near the end of what has been a well-coordinated and uneventful blending of two similar cultures where our employees are our most important resource, the feedback from all directions continues to be positive.

We have all been fortunate to maintain our tenure which allowed most employees with Cajun IDC to take advantage of the many impressive benefits offered to us by Cajun Industries. As time moves on, the prospect of continued opportunities and attractive benefits will help us to retain our workforce as well as attract new employees.

We are experiencing a rejuvenation of sorts in our approach to safety through training such as S.T.A.R.T. for our leadership as well as train-the-trainer initiatives for our Safety Staff. Participation in the Safety Round Table and healthy conversation among the many Safety Professionals in the Cajun Organization has already helped to strengthen our solid base. As we continue to move forward with the impressive resources now available to us, our safety culture has the potential to become the best in our industry.

As a result of our long standing relationships within Cajun Industries and the warm welcome we have received, we have been able to strengthen some existing relationships as well as establish new relationships.

We look forward to the future and continue to work toward improving all areas of our operation so that we are prepared for the many opportunities ahead.

CAJUN SHOWS CHILDREN THE BUILDING BLOCKS OF SUCCESS

Cajun Constructors sponsored the Block Kids Building Program event at Ascension Catholic Primary School in Baton Rouge. The Block Kids Building Program is a national building program competition that is sponsored on the local level by National Association of Women in Construction (NAWIC) chapters. This award-winning program introduces children to the construction industry in an effort to create awareness of and to promote an interest in future careers in one of the many facets of the industry. The competition involves the construction of various structures with Lego blocks and three of the following additional items: a small rock, string, foil and poster board. Local winners advance to Regional competition and one semi-finalist from each region is entered in the National Program competition. National prizes are awarded to the top three projects.

JOB WELL DONE!

Congratulations are in order! I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate everyone within the Cajun Deep Foundations (CDF) organization for completing an entire year without a recordable incident. The improvement we have made since refocusing on our safety culture in our Crossroads Safety Program proves that hard work and dedication are the real keys to success.

2013 is going to be another good year for CDF. As of now, we are currently scheduled to install over 1,000 piles each at the Port of Baton Rouge, New Orleans East Hospital and a new Cryogenics plant in Plaquemine, as well as projects at ConocoPhillips, Marathon and BP. Additionally, we are in negotiations for the pile installation at two new facilities with quantities of 6,000 to 8,000 piles; Add in the piling packages we are receiving daily from KBR, Jacobs, Entergy, etc. and the outlook is extremely positive. Your hard work and dedication towards safe, quality projects helps our clients maintain a high confidence level in our abilities. It is time to raise our expectations and repeat the same success achieved by our safety culture in this coming year.

I look forward to congratulating everyone once again next year!

NATIONAL RECOGNITION FOR CAJUN'S SAFETY PROGRAM

Cajun's commitment to safety has once again received national recognition. After a multi-phased application process, the Associated General Contractors of America awarded Cajun second place in its National Construction Safety Excellence Awards.

In addition to submittal of our recent safety performance statistics, the initial application, submitted last November, also required a discussion of our overall safety program, a description of recent projects and identification of specific training topics. AGC received over 1,100 applications in the various categories and invited the finalists to participate in the national conference in Palm Springs, California in early March.

Jamey Sandefur and Steve Martino attended the conference and participated in a meeting with the judging panel, which included the former head of OSHA and the director of safety for the USACE, among others. The final application phase involved a presentation by Cajun followed by a question and answer session with the judges. Martino and Sandefur fielded questions about Cajun's corporate safety policy, the recent LPV 148 project and its size, our process for learning from recordable incidents, safety issues involved in working 24 hours per day, etc.

At the awards breakfast held on the final day of the conference, Cajun received second place in the category for general contractors working over 1 million man-hours. Cajun continues to be recognized with such honors because of its employees' consistent commitment to Cajun's Zero Injury Techniques.

Health Plan:

As 2014 draws closer, so do the teeth of the financial impact brought forth by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, commonly referred to as Obamacare. The upcoming changes will no doubt impose a significant additional cost to the company. We are engaged with our insurance provider and advisors in an effort to remain compliant with the law and determine ways to keep costs down so that the plan can remain a viable benefit offering to all Cajun employees. All employees should be aware that benefit changes and increased cost sharing (higher premiums) in 2014 are inevitable. Employees should also be aware that there will be penalties if you do not have health insurance through Cajun or from some other source such as a government sponsored healthcare exchange.

We appreciate your loyalty to Cajun and assure you that our decisions will be based on what is best for our employees while protecting the financial integrity of our company.

If you have any questions or need additional information regarding Cajun's benefits, please contact me at (225) 754-0260 or email me at joejf@cajunusa.com.

Our company proves again that we are doing things right and others are noticing. It’s been a long road for Lane who started his company in 1973 to reach the pinnacle of the Merit Shop industry. What an honor to all of you who have played a part in daily activities to always keep Cajun’s safety culture, quality of construction and outstanding performance on the forefront each and every day. Another national award presented to Cajun was given by Associated General Contractors for our overall efforts in safety and the culture we have developed. Once again, congratulations to all of you who make us who we are; nationally recognized and a leader in our chosen field. It takes many of years and hard work to achieve accolades such as these. Additionally, our work is cut out to stay on top. We can never rest on our past successes. Recognition of hazards before they turn into an incident is a key ingredient to our overall safety efforts. Congratulations go out to our three participants who performed award winning hazard recognition in the field this past quarter, Christopher Morris – 1st place and Armando Flores and Ron Renner both with 2nd place submissions. You are to be commended as leaders of an award winning company. Thank you.

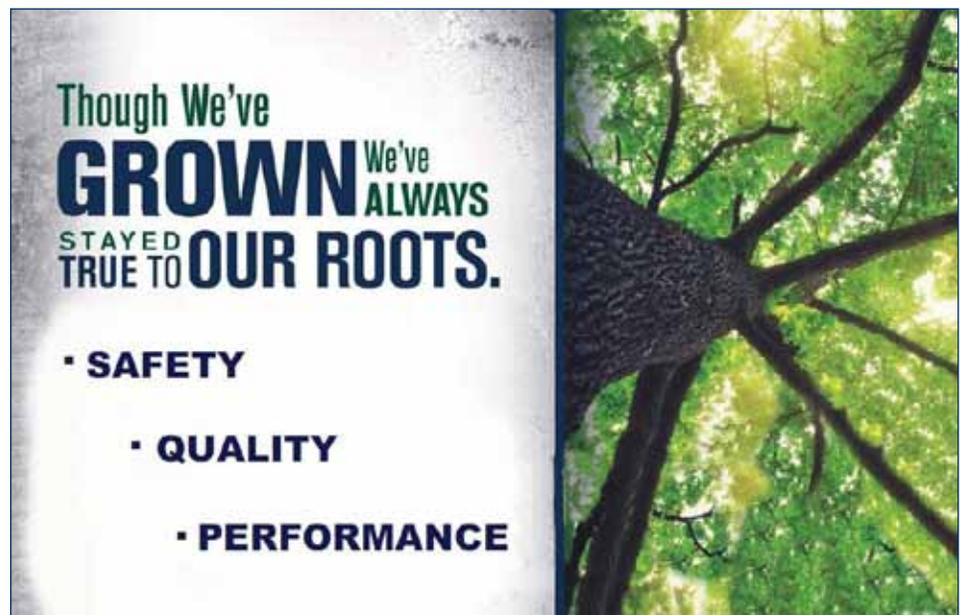

Our Chevron Pascagoula team continues to impress our cherished customer with safe work and quality construction. The best testament of a job well done from a customer is additional
